Embodiments of Love! See that your love for God does not fluctuate according to whether your wishes are fulfilled or not. Remember that you reap the fruits of your own actions, depending on whether they are good or bad. Love of God alone can confer enduring bliss. Eschew bad qualities like hatred and envy. If you wish to lead a sacred life and have sacred experiences, you must engage yourself in sacred actions. The good and evil in the world can be changed only by the change in people's actions. Transformation of society must start with transformation of individuals. Students! Remember that you are in a 'golden age' in your lives. Do not waste it. Do your duty. Love and revere your parents. Serve society. Adhere to good qualities always. Be happy and make others happy. When students cultivate humility, reverence for elders and love towards all, I feel very happy.
